Sue Mock

Ms. Sue Mock was a charter member of the Katherine Peden BPW Club from 1964– 1969; member of Trigg Co. Club from 1970 - 1987; and joined the Hopkinsville Club in 1987.

Ms. Sue wore many hats in BPW from serving as President in the Trigg Co. Club and two time for the Hopkinsville BPW in 1989-1990 and 2002-2003, Woman of the Year in 1990, served in all officers and committee chairs. Ms. Sue participated in all BPW activities across the years, from selling pecans, to participating in the American Heart Walks and Relay for Life. When she was a member of the Trigg Co. Club, her mother - the late Mary Frances Sholar and sister - Wanda Morris were also members.

Ms. Sue worked for Hopkinsville Stone Company for 18 years and left to work on the farm full time. The farm is her passion. She tells us all that “She Is The Best Hoer and Stripper In Christian County”, that is hoeing and stripping tobacco where she and her sister-in-law, Teresa Sholar, work from May until November planting, hoeing, cutting, curing, stripping, and delivering to market.

With her husband being a minister, Ms. Sue has been a member of Wallonia Baptist Church where she taught the Senior Adult Sunday School Class and sang in the choir; West Mount Zion Baptist Church; and presently South Union Baptist Church. She has been a member of the Roaring Springs Homemakers Club for over 50 years.

Ms. Sue is the 2nd child of nine children born to the late Ernest Sr. and Mary Frances Sholar.

Ms. Sue has been married to Don Mock for 49 years. She enjoys collecting Santa's, which she has over 2,500. Before her husband's illness, Sue and Don would decorate the property they live on with lights and decorations that was seen for a mile away. Their home was always on the tour of lights and they had a turn around for all sightseers. The club was always invited to their home in the month of December and we would always have taco and potato soup; view their Santa room; and enjoy the lights.
